$99 Heart Scan

*Mammograms are designed to identify calcifications within the breast that may indicate early cancer. But did you know that the same calcifications within your coronary arteries can be a sign of early heart disease?

The heart scan is another important test that every woman over 45 years of age should consider...especially because unlike men, the symptoms of heart disease can be very vague with women. Because this test is preventive in nature, and because it is the only non-invasive test that can detect the presence of early heart disease, it has been called the “mammogram of the heart” by leading cardiology experts.

If you have your mammogram in February, American Heart Month, you can have your heart scan for just $99.
