

2 birds

spring screening event

So, what is our 2 birds spring
screening event?

As healthcare professionals working to preserve life, we never liked the expression “kill two birds with one stone.” But everyone knows what the expression means: that you can take care of two things at once for greater convenience.

Get two important screenings in a single visit: A mammogram and a bone density test.

Breast cancer and osteoporosis are two diseases that affect women to a significantly higher degree than men, and they can both be detected early—giving you and your doctor more treatment options and a better chance for a cure.

Get two important screenings in a single visit:

Please join us at one of these special events... and bring a friend! All women with an appointment will receive a special self-care package.
